WHO AM I?

First edition: On 2019

Dedication

I dedicate to you life apple

Words I had picked up from the tree of days

Some of them were sweet, some were bitter

In between, were not good to be eaten

I gleaned them, to recognize the taste of life

Between pain and pleasure

With a smile wetted by tears

Dialogue with myself, revitalized me

As if I hadn't been

I drew my voice in letters

So that it has an echo

While enunciating in your eyes

So that we know the time

When we are going beyond its borders

Images I thought that they were lifeless

It was my voice

I breathed my thoughts in it

It lived after me without a soul

It was my soul

Ali Alqaseer

Introduction

The first beginning

Between my loneliness with stillness,

a thousand questions and more had been scattered from me to myself.

Between them I stood silently seeing who is asking?

And who is answering?

When I found none but me, I spoke secretly:

Who am I?

And I started a journey of silence with an idea

in every part of time, and everywhere,

looking for something that I can't see,

a spirit by which I revive,

and a mind by which I control my heart and senses,

and about feelings,

those around me, and with me whom I see, and whom I can't the boundaries of the world, and universe

and between them, where am I?

and what am I doing?

A start like a flash of light in the darkness of valley of confusion

was the key to write these words from a heart beating as the signal in the way of crowding to choose from the letters what forms the truth.

Who am I?

Did I choose to be?

Or that someone had chosen me to be?

When? and why?

Did I choose my form and image?

Or my tallness, my width, and my weight?

Or my color and my voice?

If I am not, who had chosen- for me-how to be

If no one created me, then why can't
I control my body?

Isn't it mine?

Then why can't I control it as I like?

Why can't I fly?

Why can't I breathe underwater?

Why can't I see what's in the sky, or what's underground?

Why can't I change my abilities?

Am I a machine working as the maker likes it to work?

Or am I a machine that can work as I like, but within limits?

Why limits and restrictions?

Who wants me to be what he wants?

Do I have to feel satisfaction and acceptance?

Or can I object?

What is the secret of the differences of the kinds of creatures, even in the same species?

Is it a genetic development in cells?

Or is it a genetic effect that generates a higher maturity than the previous one?

Who saw those whom were before me and said they didn't look like me?

Who conveyed everything to us?

And how to believe everything?

Who drew the lines of my fingers, not resembling those for others?

Who transplanted my voice, to be unique whose vocal cords do not resemble others?

Who has seen me in an eye of unparalleled map?

Who drew my face unlike any one else of all human race?

How can I run away of my shadow?

How can I live forever, lasting forever?

Did I choose my own self, to be?

Or there is someone selected me to be?

When? And why?

I don't remember I did determine to
be!

Then how can I say no, he is not there who chosen me to be?

But when I had been created, when he had chosen me to be?

It is secret unknown by any one.

Unquestionably, he is before time and place.

And who is to determine time for this, place, or condition, he is imagining pictures according to his delusions.

The secret of my being should be found to be aware what I have to do.

Did I choose my drawing and my image?

Or my tallness, my width and my weight?

Or my color and my voice?

If it is not me, then who is that who chose, for me, how to be?

I can't say, not even others can say:

I choose my drawing and my image,
or my tallness, my width and weight,
or my color and my voice.

If it's up to us, each one would choose the most beautiful image, body textures, colors, and voices.

Then, how it comes that each one of us is what he is? and why?

It's a great secret we have to know!

When I knew that I had not chosen my condition,

and could not change from what I am,

I knew that there must be a maker created me.

Who is he?

How is he?

Where is he?

And when he had been?

I am asking and will continue, until I get the secret.

If no one made me, why can't I control my body?

Isn't it mine?

Then why can't I control it as I will?

They are ideas wrestling each other!

I am a box of things, and the box is the body, or the flesh, in which:

soul, mind, heart, senses, bones, veins, flesh, blood, and many things.

Why can't I make my power equal to the power of ten as me?

Or, to have another height?

I make my body tall once, medium sometimes, and short again?

To be skinny once, and fat another time?

To have one eye, or even four?

To have one ear, or three?

Or invisible nose?

Isn't it my body?

Why can't I?

Who prevents me?

Why don't I have that ability?

Is there indeed a maker have the power to control my body and the others, by a system that does not make mistakes?

Can someone create, as he did, creatures like us?

Can I imagine that there are several partners for creating me?

If they were two,

for example, why didn't each one of them send us a sign indicates to him?

no doubt, they will differ, even about a small thing the difference will be in the system of everything they differ about!

But the signs indicate that there is only one creator for all the creatures.

Really, if there is maker, he would be one.

If so, why we can't see him?

And if the evidences indicate to his existence,

but we can't see him, is it possible to deny him?

Or we have to believe in him?

And also:

If the evidence that no maker of me is my inability to see him?

I have a mind, but I can't see it.

And I have a spirit, but I can't see it.

And I have senses, but I can't see beyond the limits of sight.

I can't hear over or under, what I'm allowed, and there are much more!

I hold on something whenever I am alone.

Especially when I am feeling fear.

Is he the maker of me?

And if he is not him, what is that thing?

Does anyone will believe me when I say:

I'm living without a soul, because I can't see it?!

Does anyone dare to write:
I am writing wisdom, but I don't have a mind, because I do not see it?!

Can anyone see behind the walls?

Or hear the speech of ants?

Why don't I fly?

Why don't I breathe under water?

Why don't I see what's in the sky? or what`s underground?

Why can't I change my abilities?

Am I a machine that is working as the maker like it to work?

Am I a machine can work as I want, but within limits?

Why limits and restrictions?

My body density prevents me from flying, how can I get free of it?

Would it come, the day in which I can swim in the air as I want?

With my soul or with my body, or with both?

I like diving without a machine.

I breathe as when I am on the ground.

Why can't I?

It's my body, how can't I change it from something I don't want?

I want to walk and no one sees me?

I want to get out of my body?

What are the reasons why I can't control myself?

And how are the stars and their earth?

And how is the life on the moon and its climate?

I want to travel to space, whenever I want?

Why am I in earth`s prison?

Who's there?

And how are they?

Is there no one?

So why does it exist?

Who is underground?

And how is its interior?

Who made the earth?

Are there others?

And how was it?

How long may it last?

And why am I on it?

Am I a modern machine going through fixed paths?

No, everything in my body is a big world

shows that it has subjective choices, but does not go beyond the laws

I walk as I want, but not in front of a lion.

And I sit wherever I like, but not with a wolf.

I jump towards the water but not to a solid ground.

Who instilled in me that awareness?

And how does every cell in my body feel the pain?

And heat and cold?

How does it make sense of things?

They are capabilities within limits.

What is the secret of its limits?

What if it has no limits?

He is strange, that who is above the dust.

Strange that who is underneath

Who wants me to be as he likes me to be?

Do I need satisfaction and acceptance?

Or can I object?

If I know that I have my options.

But I did not make myself.

I did not exist by coincidence.

For the accuracy of each system in myself, and every part of it.

Who wants me to be like this?

Does he love me, or not?

Can I say: he does not love me?

If I am unable to escape from the idea that he made me.

With the choices he gave me.

For certain he loves me.

Otherwise, he will make me without thought, mind or sense!

When he loves me, how can I express my love towards him to thank him.

Or ask him something that I wish?

I want to be to him, as he likes me to be.

For, he is to me, as I like him to be.

He is fair with me.

And if I would be objecting, would he avenge me?

Am I forced to accept his decision?

Or can I object whenever I will?

I am asking myself, what I have to object for?!

Is he in need to me?

Or to avenge me?

He knows that I can't benefit him or harm him!

He knows that he is the strongest?

I can't escape from the idea that there is a secret behind my existence!!

I am not obliged to do anything,

and I can't object,

because all what I see is creativity in the invention.

What is the secret of the differences between the kinds of the creatures, and even in the same kind?

Is it a genetic development in cells?

Or is it a genetic effect that generates a higher maturity than the previous one?

Why don't our colors look the same?

Why do I walk on two legs, but the birds fly, and many walk on four?

In our body-building map, we resemble each other one head, two eyes, and a nose.

One tongue, two ears, and two hands.

And two feet, and fingers.

But they differ in all, size, color, weight and shape!!

Who designed my map?

Who designed the maps of everyone?

If I had come from nothingness, how was I?

And if I was made of something, so what is it?

If there was a cosmic explosion from which we came.

Did all the cell types come together?

How did it know or learned how to be organized?

Had it evolved?

Or is it the same, since the beginning till the end?

If it was itself, how couldn't he think like me who was before me?

And if it was evolved,

how was I born differently from who preceded me?

Was it unable to repeat making it?

Or does it have an opinion about making everything?

How was that explosion?

And why?

And how was it existed until it exploded?

Who created it from the beginning?

My mind is within limits can't believe a story like a mirage!

And when I stood wondering

If that bang created the cells

Then it evolved making us to be

How plant cells parted from humans'
cells?

And how did our cells unite, without mixing with the cells of other animals?

Was the sun created before we had been?

Or it was made by the bang cells?

And where was the moon that time?

And how is each one, the sun and the moon, going on its way without meeting?

And where were the planets?

And who planned its paths that do not intersect?

What was that big bang?

Can it be the maker?

And doesn't he have a measure,

but let the cells

to agree and to be as they wish?

I wonder again.

Can any group of cells make whatever they want?

Who inspired them this science?

And where did they come from?

I confess that I am writing the truth.

Which is that, there should be a maker, for each existent.

Also, when we make something, we say that "so and so" made " so and so".

My mind acknowledges that there should be a maker for this whole existence,

and he should be existent.

And there must be a maker.

And be just one.

And he must be a scientist,

And an owner and a king,

nonpareil,

nothing like him

indescribable

because he created everything

no matter how many names he has.

He is above the awareness of senses,
that he has given to our cells,

he has no limits,

we cannot understand him, as we understand each other!

The space is un capable to surround him.

He is there in everywhere.

Because he is before the place.

wherever he is there, no time is there because he is its maker, mind can't imagine him by its illusion

because it can't perceive, by the senses, what is beyond its limits.

Who saw whom were before me, and said they didn't look like me?

Who conveyed everything to us?

And how we believe everything?

We read history and believe it,

as if every writer does not make mistakes!

Who lived with the first human being?

He among us testifies that he does not look like me?

It's yes. We had inherited books, that were written before hundreds of years ago.

But do we have books dating back thousands of years?

Everyone draws his faith in the closet of the heart,

then he imagines what he wants to believe,

then he believes what he imagined.

Do we have to believe anyone who fancies?

If our existence is a result of a sequence of cell development.

Why didn't that moon turn to be a sun within the process of evolution?

Why didn't the ant develop to be an elephant, or an ant like an elephant

We read a lot, and hear more,

but we must not believe anyone except after the evidence accompanies the saying, articulately, or literally

the great maker for sure will be knowledgeable and surrounding because of his unique inventions, which amazes minds!

Because I see in everything, a proof, that the maker is wise,

he put everything in place

so that members fit their functions

There shall be no overlap between one kind and another.

Because everything has an orbit and a path.

Who drew the lines of my fingers, not resembling the fingers of the others?

Who transplanted my voice, to be unique whose vocal cords do not resemble others?

Who has seen me in an eye of
unparalleled map?

Who drew my face unlike any one else of all human race?

Was it illusions of the big bang and the cells illusions?

The world is so wide that it can't be surrounded by illusion?

Who built my bones?

And who covered the bones with flesh?

Who planted the soul in my body?

And who made me utter?!

Every known fact is felt.

Who knew where had he been,
before being?

And who is turning my condition,
from situation to another situation?

And who can control his condition?

I wonder again.

The maker knows what is he making.

Had the cell, or the big bang, known what had they done?

How many grains of sand are there?

How many raindrops are there?

How many people are there?

How many stars and planets are there?

What is the thing that makes me sleep?

Why can't I stay sleepless?

Why do I have attention?

Is it safe for me against danger?

Who designed it, to work, without my will?

I can't believe it was a coincidence,
and in all human beings,

do you believe?

My partner with me on earth and air!

I did not choose you to be my partner!

And also, you did not choose me!

Has anyone chosen us?

Or were we in vain?

I am thinking too much.

If no one chooses us, how can't we resemble each other concerning special things, such as:

Face features and eye's retina, and the lines in the hands and fingers?!

If we had been living in vain.

So why wasn't it a coincidence, that two are similar, in everything?

Despite the conflict of ideas.

I tell you that we are partners against our will.

Prisoners, within borders, we can't overcome.

On the ground, or in the space, or beyond the boundaries of our senses.

How do we agree, you and I?

If we do not agree?

Who will be the arbiter between us if we disagree?

Our minds, forces and perceptions differ.

Everyone seeks to be the great, the king and the owner

Strangely, we know that we are all leaving.

So why do we disagree?

How do we get together?

Our predecessors.

Our successors.

Have we inherited everything, to present it, to those who will be coming after us?

How can this earth continue being alive?

And how was it?

For how long time it will last?

Are we in a dream or a daydream?

Unaware or aware?

Do we live in an illusion?

Or it is the shadow of the truth?

Or it is the truth itself?

What is the fuel for this life?

One or more?

And why?

What is the fuel for us?

Is it blood, water, air, or all of it?

Or with something else?

How did we start?

Is life going on?

How did we propagate?

Why can't we choose propagate approach for male and female?

Who made the system of genus in the body regulated

its effects are inherited,

like, color, behavior, and why?

Do we have to know?

Or shouldn't we think?

Who is the creator for this existence?

Why did he create it?

Who's writing its theories?

Why do we have to believe?

Like the theory of the big bang, is the origin of existence.

And that we had been created by coincidence!

And the people of illusion.

And every one talking about things he does not realize it by his mind and his senses!

So, they are spreading darkness.

What is that coincidence which made our blood can't be mixed?

Who needs for some blood should be supplied by blood of his blood type.

Otherwise, any other blood type will not be accepted by his body.

What an inventor, beyond the borders of description of his ability to multiply his qualities?

And his beautiful creatures with its beautiful details.

And how was it a coincidence.

Or how the big bang components were organized after being exploded.

To make the deferent kinds of plants.

The fruits having different tastes.

And the flowers having several colors?

And what is its fuel?

Does it have the theory of mixing deferent kinds of fuels? or not?

Or is it water and nothing else?

Who drew our shapes and its shapes?

I wonder, why while its running, if water covered a seed, the seed will sprout and grow forming a spike, or a flower?

But, if it covered a stone, this stone will not grow to be a mountain?!

Do cells change or evolve?

Or they are the same, but they are maturing.

Meaning awareness and better perception?

Is the origin of human being, is the monkey, as they claimed?!

Or the human being in the stages of development are different at all times from the previous?

Or isn't changed?

However, the factors of the environment in which it arises have its effects in its evolution.

Such as height, color, and temper,

by the impact of soil, water and air?

Why did they claim that human being had a different origin?

Or that human being has gone through stages of evolution.

They did not say that his cells were gaining knowledge to change the self-path.

According to the capabilities of those incubators of the bodies of those cells and the surrounding climate.

Why wasn't there origin for the elephant?

Did the elephant evolve, and was originally a mouse for example?

Why do dinosaurs become extinct, but flies do not?

And many more of examples!

And who made lamps for us to illuminate the ceiling of the earth.

They were planets and stars.

And with it the sun and the moon?

Is it as they say?

It is the substance, coincidence and the big bang?!

Is it true what they are saying?

Or is it true the saying of the others?

Don't they believe in the existence of the maker of this precise system in all universes?

And light shining.

And right like the light.

Those people who have minds can announce that this creative presence in all its systems and mechanisms, should have only one creator.

How can I run away from my shadow?

Master, tell me.

How can I run away from my shadow?

Whenever I ran away from him, he followed me.

Am I running and my shadow follows me?

Or is it running, and I am following
it?

I walk like a captive.

Within will.

As I want.

Within the will.

The one I see was there before I had been at all.

I expect a situation where is it between my body and my shadow.

In a long time; to see my time.

But every time I face the inability to find it!

As well as others.

He cannot separate himself from his shadow!

I have learned and realized that I can't run away from my shadow

because I'm bound by it.

It has a different weight than my weight.

There must be someone who holds everything under his shadow.

Because everything has a shadow!

How do I live, not to die?

Who am I?

And who are you?

Can you, or can I, live as long as we like?

We are living within limits.

Each limited one, can't realize beyond his limits.

How can one make his decisions?

Since he needs water, food, sleep and air?!

How do I live, endless life?

Why do I live? and why do I die?

Is life means to live?

Or life means to die?

Or means life beyond death?

What is the meaning of life?

What does it taste?

What does death mean?

And what does it taste?

Who gave me life?

To whom will I be going, after death?

Or is it the cessation of being?

And there is no life after death?

What it means, to see the images of our predecessors in our dreams?

Is it their souls?

Or is it just pictures of our subconscious mind?

Or is it their situation as they are in the other life?

Am I returning back to him who made me?

Or to whom?

Why are all the images we see in our dreams differ from their images when they were among us?

Is there a ruler award them happiness?

Or the owner who punishes it for its bad deeds?

The creator doesn't need me to come to him, carrying my own supplies, feeling fear.

Because he gave me all my existence, and the beauty of life for free.

But I think he will not be content if I do bad deeds, to another human being like me.

Because he loves his creatures!

He loves his creatures; how can we express our love for him?

And how to thank him, and what are the ways?

I lost the words that I see as a closet for all meanings inside myself

I did not find the appropriate thankfulness to whom gave me realization.

Because he loves me, more than all the love I can feel towards him.

If death came to me, it means that my life went out of me.

But I' m still happy.

Because of that who was seeing me all the time, and was present with me in my life.

He himself who sees me, and present with me, in the moment of my death, and after.

What a beautiful meeting between the beloved and whom he loves.

It is peace and tranquility when I realized that I have a maker.

He is great.

Unmatched.
